

David Enrique Ruiz serves as Senior Vice President and Community Relations Manager for Bank of America in Houston. David participates in the local grant-making process and is responsible for negotiating the sponsorship portfolio to increase both revenue and the company's brand favorability. He also serves as champion for low- and moderate-income communities and manages relationships with community leaders and community organizations.

David is an active community volunteer currently serving on the board of Hermann Park Conservancy, on the Board of Trustees of the Menil Foundation, on the advisory board of Inprint Houston, on the advisory board of the Houston Education Research Consortium, and the community investment committee at United Way of Greater Houston.